Distance Education in Nursing: Third Edition

Authors: Clark, Deborah
Pirh, Karen H.

Resource Type: eBook

Description: A Doody's Core Title! This book addresses issues that cut across a wide range of best practices and the effect of technology on learning. It includes sound principles, new and creative ideas, and many implications for future research. What can and cannot be taught online? How are faculty best assisted in learning new roles? Who are the students in this geographically and culturally diverse learning community? I know that you will enjoy this book because it combines current practices and research with building a foundation of knowledge that takes us into the future. Joanne M. Novotny, PhD, RN, FAAN, Dean, School of Nursing, Fairfield University. This award-winning text, now in its third edition, integrates new digital teaching strategies with current distance education practices. Extensive revisions, seven new chapters, and an innovative format facilitate the planning, design, implementation, and evaluation of distance curriculum in undergraduate and graduate programs. New content promotes mobile computing in distance education, faculty preparation, quality improvement, teaching in context, ethical reasoning, ethical decision-making, and nursing skills, and addresses the...

Abstract: Effective faculty development programs are of paramount importance in this era of profound change in nursing education driven by baccalaureate-degree entry to practice and the concurrent implementation of college/university collaborative partnerships in Ontario, Canada. The overall purpose of this study was to design, disseminate, and evaluate a faculty development program involving nursing faculty from the McMaster University, Mohawk College, and Conestoga College, in keeping with selected conceptual models and
